

Movie Show Investing — Visual Guide

Screen mockups, element checklists, test scenarios, and color legends · Companion to the Replit Prompt Guide · Updated September 27, 2026

How to use this guide

- Mockups show exactly what each screen should contain, at phone width. Match the words and order; the look can be polished.
- Checklists follow each mockup. Tick every item before signing off a phase.
- Test scenarios (S, F, I) are referenced by the Prompt Guide. Run them after the matching prompt, on a phone-sized window.
- Example names (NIGHT SHIFT, BLUE HOUR) and admin numbers are placeholders.

YOU RAISE $50,000

($125 per $100)

Platform fee $12,500

($25 per $100)

YOU PAY BACK $75,000

($150 per $100)

After that, you keep $67 of every $100 your film earns.

() Yes, I'd take it

() Maybe, if I could negotiate

() No, not at these terms

- ☐ Tabs share one budget with Screen 4; the Your budget tab recalculates as they type

Your offer to investors

Example budget ▶Your budget◀

Standard for Distribution: $125 per $100

Offer investors, for every $100:

[•$125] [$150] [$175] [$200]

[Other $_____]

☐ I'd need to offer less than $125

On your $80,000 raise:

Investors get back	$100,000
Platform fee	$20,000
YOU PAY BACK	$120,000

PHASE 1 Until $120,000 is paid back,
earnings go to investors

PHASE 2 After that:
YOU KEEP $67 OF EVERY $100

Most investors here look for at least
$150 per $100. (after 20+ answers)

How payback works

If your film earns $10,000 a month, all of it goes to investors until $120,000 is paid back, about 12 months. After that, you keep $6,700 of every $10,000.

- ☐ Other below $125 shows a red message and can't continue
